

August Wilson Center for African American Culture

Auditions: Feb. 4, 2012, from 5-10 p.m.

Contact Eric A. Smith, (412) 212-8031 or a.eric.smith@gmail.com.

“Every Tongue Confess” by Marcus Gardley. Directed by Tre Garrett.

March 23, 24, 25, 30, 31 and April 1, 2012.

In “Every Tongue Confess,” a series of church burnings in 1990s rural Alabama lead the townspeople to question their lives, identities and journeys, both collectively and individually. The work blends secular with spiritual and Bible stories with everyday occurrences of newsworthy events

Looking for African American actors ages 17 and up and Caucasian males 30 - 40.

Prepare a one- to two-minute monologue and a song, although singing is not a requirement. Provide head shot, resume and schedule conflicts from Feb. 28 through the end of the run of the show at the audition.

August Wilson Center for African American Culture, 980 Liberty Avenue, downtown Pittsburgh.